

Spool Count

Help Documentation

Spool Count

The number of messages within the spool can be very important when the number reaches a certain level which could mean a problem within the system. Administrators can utilize the attributes listed below to be notified when the spool count reaches a certain level.

Attributes

Time of Day - Enter a time of day to trigger this event.

Spool Count - Enter the number of messages in the spool that will trigger this event.