

Devices

Help Documentation

Mobile Devices

This report displays the mobile devices used by website visitors during the selected date range. It can be used to better understand the type of traffic that a site receives. For example, if a marked increase in mobile browsing is noticed, changes to the site may need to be made to accommodate that shift.

Note: This report can be added as a report item to a custom report. For more information on report items, refer to Understanding Report Items .

For a definition of the terms listed on this page, please refer to the Glossary .